NIGHT CLASSES FOR ADULTS TO BEGIN JAN. 18

Plans for the annual adult evening courses at Gettysburg High School were announced today by Recreation Director Chester Hilger.

The night classes at the high school will begin January 18 and will be open to all persons who have passed their 16th birthday and who are not in full-time attendance in a day school. No special requirements are listed for admission to the adult classes.

Last year approximately 95 attended the courses and Hilger said today it is hoped that an even larger number will be able to take advantage of the courses.

Registration Fees

Residents of Gettysburg, Straban and Freedom Twp., will receive the instruction free of charge, with the cost borne by their school districts. However a fee of $3 is required at the time of registration. Those who attend 75 per cent of the classes are given the $3 back. Those who fail to attend that many classes forfeit the fee. In addition those who attend woodworking and leather classes in which materials are used are charged a $1 laboratory fee, which is not returned.

Residents of areas other than Gettysburg and Straban and Freedom Twp., may attend by paying an $8 tuition fee at the time of registration.

3 Nights A Week

Classes will be in session on Mondays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 7 to 10 p.m. each night for some courses and from 7 to 9 for others. Students may register for more than one subject if there is no conflict between the classes.

The following courses are tentatively scheduled, and will be held provided 12 or more students register for each class: Fundamentals of electricity; electronics, woodwork, leathercraft, beginning sewing, tailoring (sewing), oil painting, water color painting, beginning and refresher courses in shorthand, business English, composition English, beginning bookkeeping, beginning and advanced typing, U. STACKPOLE IS AUTHOR OF NEW BOOK ON WAR

General Edward J. Stackpole, Harrisburg, prominent author of many Civil War books has published another, "From Cedar Mountain to Antietam," which will be on the bookshelves of all book stores on Monday. One of his most popular books on the Civil War is "They Met At Gettysburg," which continues to be among the best sellers.

The current book deals with the war after 1862.

In the summer of 1862 Lincoln sought victory by constituting the Army of Virginia in the Warrenton area, under Maj. Gen. John Pope, to threaten Lee from that direction while McClellan continued to press against Richmond on the James River. But the Confederates, more agile mentally and physically, defeated Pope in detail, first at Cedar Mountain and then on a larger scale at Second Manassas (Bull Run.)

Sam The Space Monkey Is Alive And Kicking After 55-Mile Ride Into Space

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sam the space monkey, alive and kicking after a violent rocket ride 55 miles up, arrives today at Norfolk, Va. There he'll set his feet on terra firma again for the first time since 11:15 a.m. Friday, when a "Little Joe" rocket shot him aloft from Wallops Island, Va.

This was Sam's dizzying odyssey from that point:

His space capsule, the kind future space men will ride in their first attempts to orbit the earth, roared to a height of 19 miles.

There an escape rocket ignited, blasted loose from the main booster rocket and carried the capsule on up to a height of 55 miles. Testing this escape mechanism, a key safety device for future astronauts, was the main purpose of Sam's journey. It worked perfectly.

Kiwanians Will Name Committees

Kiwanis president-elect William Ditzler will appoint club committees and outline objectives for the year at the regular weekly dinner-meeting of the club at Bren-Da's Luncheonette, Fairfield Rd., Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock.

LIBRARY WILL BE OPEN FRIDAY NIGHTS IN '60

The Adams County Free Library will be open Friday nights and closed Saturday evenings beginning in January, according to action taken by the board of directors at their regular meeting Friday evening in the library.

The board also voted to open the library from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Because the Saturday morning operating will require additional help, the board said it will "review the picture" in March. If income to the library warrants it, the Saturday morning opening will continue. If funds are not available then the Saturday morning opening will be dropped.

Short Of Funds

Directors favor having the library open every morning of the week, if finances were available. Finance Chairman Dr. Frank Hewetson reported the library has a balance of $1,265.29. December expenses will be about $2,000. If a state contribution is received the library will have sufficient funds to finish the year with a balance. However, funds have not yet been authorized by the legislature.

Raise Book Fines

Along "bills" to be paid before the end of the year is the quarterly $400 on the mortgage of $9,715.60. The library is paying off about $1,000 per year on the principal of the mortgage and about $500 per year interest.

To raise funds toward the cost of operation the board voted to raise the fines on overdue books from two cents to three cents a day starting December 8.

Donald Becker, property chairman, reported a change in parking regulations in the library lot. The lot has been laid out into parking spaces. Nine of the spaces have been rented for $4 per month "which will bring in about $400 a year." Several spaces were set aside for parking by library patrons and the staff. The other spaces are available for renting to persons who wish the service.

Woodwork Is Painted

Becker also reported the woodwork was painted by Earl Steiner and Son at a cost of $300. Becker said the Rotary Club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce have each donated $50 toward the project. Other service clubs have been asked to give $50 each to help defray the cost.

The board voted to close the library at 3 p.m. December 24 and December 31 and all day December 25 and 26 and January 1 and 2. Members said experience

Meeting at the Lamp Post Tearoom the board set up plans for purchase of a suitable plot of ground for a permanent camp site. Walter B. Lane and Harry D. Ridinger, camp site committee members, reported inspection of several sites and said they will report further at the next meeting. The committee said it is seeking several acres of wooded land near Gettysburg which would lend itself to construction of swimming and other facilities.

Kauffman, program director of the county YMCA, discussed his work with the Adams County Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Clubs and outlined a proposed program for younger boys' work including the Indian Guides program for boys 6 to 9 and their fathers and a Gray-Y program for boys from Four to Sixth grades.

TRUCK OF SUGAR UPSETS

A tractor-trailer loaded with sugar upset off the north side of the Lincoln Highway near the S. R. Baumgardner service station at Seven Stars Friday morning. State police said they were not called to investigate the accident. A crew later righted the vehicle which was damaged about the fender and the side of the trailer.

Legend Of Trees

Another 13th century legend speaks of a huge tree in a forest decorated with candles, some straight and some upside down, and at the top an infant with a halo around his head. The child is Jesus and the candles represent people, good and bad, and the tree is humanity. Of more recent history is the legend that Martin Luther once cut a fir tree on Christmas Eve so that his wife and children could see the beauty of the season. He is said to have decorated the tree with candles to represent the stars and ever since that time trees have been decorated with candles, apples and colored paper.

Holly has long been associated with Christmas. To indicate a house in which Christ abided the

COLLEGE FROSH GIVE COMEDY; PLAY TONIGHT

The Owl and Nightingale Players of Alpha Psi Omega of Gettysburg College will present their final performance this evening of "Dear Delinquent" by Jack Poppelwell. The play is a light comedy and features an unusual cast made up entirely of members of the freshman class. It was presented in Brua auditorium Friday before a good size crowd.

The setting of the play is London and deals with the story of a young man who has his plans for a convenient marriage with a wealthy young woman shattered by a pretty thief, Douglas Truax, plays the young man, David Warren, and gives a very convincing performance as a sometime reformer when he discovers Penelope Shawn, played by Linda Weaver, in his apartment and decides to reform her.

His attempt at reform is hampered by some jewels that Miss Shawn pilfered, prior to her reform, and which keep turning

Two Soloists

Among the traditional Christmas carols, this year's program will feature two soloists, David Greenlund, tenor, Warren, Pa., will sing "O Holy Night" to the harp accompaniment of Miss Ann Holcombe. As soprano soloist, Miss Marie Budde of the college music department will sing "He Shall Feed His Flock" from Handel's "Messiah." She will be accompanied by Miss Lois Kadel at the organ.

After intensive preparation throughout the fall, the choir is prepared to sing Christmas carols of many lands. In addition, they will perform appropriate selections from their concert tour repertoire. The audience will join the choir in the singing of "Come Hither, Ye Faithful," "Joy to the World" and "Silent Night, Holy Night." To weave the underlying theme of the program, Chaplain Edwirth Korte will read the Christmas gospel.

The chapel will be decorated in greens for the occasion. Norman Wilson will supervise the lighting, and Richard Bentz will be in charge of poster publicity. Prelude and postlude music will be provided by Miss Lois Kadel at the organ. General arrangements for the program are made under the direction of Prof. Wagnild.

An offering will be received.

Efforts are being made, Superintendent Riegle said, to get a deputy superintendent of public instruction from Harrisburg or some other representative of the state department to address the meeting.

The joint meeting follows a combined meeting of committees from the three joint boards in November in Littlestown on the same topic.

Chased 8 Miles By Cops; Faces Charges

Eugene R. Funt, Orttanna, has been charged by state police before Justice of the Peace John Whitman with reckless driving and excessive noise by muffler. Justice Whitman said the "reckless driving" charge alleges Funt was chased by state police for eight miles at 95 miles an hour, ending when Funt turned into a private drive in Gettysburg. The "noise" charge is based upon changes in the muffler of the car, the justice said.

State police also brought a speeding charge before the justice against Ernest Hinchman, Hanover.

Justice Whitman sent "ten-day notices" to the two men.

It was 25 years ago that the choir announced its first annual Christmas presentation in Brua Chapel. Wagnild said that this concert included "more participants than listeners." Public enthusiasm has favorably strengthened over the years, and recent concerts well indicate the growing popularity of this event.

President Wants To Build Defense Against Reds In Europe For Better World

By JOHN SCALI
ROME (AP)—President Eisenhower declared today in a voice quivering with emotion that his objective in his precedent-shattering 11-nation tour is to help create a better world for his grand children than he knew himself.

The President made this pledge at the outset of his second day of activities in Rome before going into earnest talks with Premier Antonio Segni, President Giovanni Gronchi and other Italian government leaders.

He is reported ready to assure them the United States intends to press ahead determinedly with a policy of building Europe's defenses against communism.

Honors Unknown Soldier

Standing before about 900 Italian and American employees of the U. S. Embassy here, Eisenhower made a solemn pledge to "try to interpret America to other people a little more emphatically, a little bit more accurately than has been done."

The President went to the embassy directly from laying a wreath at the tomb of Italy's unknown soldier.

TALKS TO LIONS CLUB ON TAXES

Thomas C. McSherry, Littlestown, tax consultant, was the guest speaker at the semi-monthly dinner meeting of the local Lions Club Thursday evening in St. John's Lutheran Church social hall.

He spoke on taxes and estate planning. Twenty-nine Lions of the Penn Twp. club were guests. Visiting Lions were Rev. Charles E. Held, Gettysburg; Delmar Riffe, Taneytown; Richard Klunk and Attorney Walter Katherman. Two awards given by the Penn Twp. Club were presented to J. Harvey Pettyjohn and Orville C. Sentz.

Musical entertainment was provided by the Littlestown High School students, selections by a brass quartet composed of Robert Benner, Ronald Feeser, Ernest Spamer and Paul Bowman; clarinet solo, Paul Plitt, accompanied on the piano by Joanne Scott.

A contribution of $5 was voted to the Adams County Christmas Seal Society. The following committee was appointed to arrange for the Lions portion of the program at the PTA sponsored Jamboree on January 20: Marvin F. Breighner, Chester S. Byers, Clayton L. Evans, Herbert J. LIBRARY WILL

Becker was named chairman of the "National Library Week" program to be held April 3 to 9.

Attorney Donald G. Oyler reported preliminary plans for the annual meeting of the library to be held January 21. January 8 was set as the date for the next meeting of the board.

A tentative budget of $26,300 was discussed but no action was taken. The budget shows a slight increase, including $500 for building upkeep and an increase of staff by one person. The amount for books in the proposed budget, $5,000, is the same as was budgeted for this year. However the library was able to spend only "about two-thirds" of the amount it had originally budgeted this year for books because of lack of funds.

Another new item in the budget is $400 for furniture. The library was unable to purchase furnishings this year.

Dr. Hewetson reported on donations made by other nearby boroughs to their libraries and as a result the board decided to ask an increase in the $1,000 normally given by Gettysburg Borough. Waynesboro, he said, pays $11,400; Chambersburg, $19,000, and Carlisle, $6,000. Sixty-four per cent of the use of the library here is by Gettysburg residents.

Dr. Hewetson also reported on organization of the Friends of the Library.

TEMPERATURES DROP 25 POINTS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Frosty winter air clamped on the Great Plains and Mississippi Valley Saturday. Temperatures tumbled as much as 25 degrees in Oklahoma and 11 degrees in North Dakota.

The cold front, stretching from the Texas Gulf Coast up the Mississippi Valley and into northern Michigan, triggered scattered showers.

At Gage, Okla., the mercury plunged 25 degrees — from 56 to 31 — during the last 24 hours. In the same period, Minot, N.D., went from 30 to 19 — a dip of 11 degrees.

Ahead of the cold front, Eastern states had temperatures generally in the 40s. Rainfall amounts generally were light. However, Galveston, Tex., reported a half inch in the six-hour period before midnight.

A few snow flurries filtered down on the Northern Plains and the eastern slopes of the central Rockies. Denver recorded about two inches in six hours.

up. Things are further confused by her determination to marry her handsome reformer despite his own engagement. The result is a series of gay mixups with a happy ending for all.

One of the most interesting characters is the girl's father portrayed by Stanley Kremp. Kremp is every inch the dignified thief and delivers a convincing performance with his Irish accent. The hero's mother, Lady Warren, played by Diane DuBois, is also convincing with her English accent and English manners. Carol Berrien, as Helen Chandler, Warren's fiancée, is attractive as well as a good actress.

The credit for the enjoyable performance goes to the director, Dr. Richard A. Arms. While the cast is young and seeks experience they gave a very pleasing and thoroughly enjoyable performance.

PRESIDENT IS PLEASED WITH HOSTS IN ITALY

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

ROME (AP)—President Eisenhower had a truly wonderful time. That's the way the President himself put it in expressing thanks to his hosts, Italy's President and Mrs. Giovanni Gronchi, after dinner and a reception in his honor Friday night at the 400-year-old Quirinal Palace.

It was a swanky affair which brought out the high society of the political world, as well as bishops and other members of the hierarchy of the Roman Catholic Church.

At dinner there was only a small group which included the President's son and daughter-in-law, Army Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower. They are accompanying the President on his goodwill mission to 11 nations in Europe, Asia and Africa.

3,000 At Reception
About 3,000 guests were invited to the reception after dinner by the Gronchis and it's a safe bet not many of them missed it.

For about 45 minutes Eisenhower wandered through a dozen lavishly decorated rooms of the ancient palace, once the residence of popes. From all sides the applauding guests moved in on the President.

Beaming all the while, Eisenhower occasionally spotted a familiar face and stopped to shake hands. Often he returned the greetings of strangers.

At the end of the reception Eisenhower stood beneath one of the glittering Venetian crystal chandeliers, in one of the many rooms where rich tapestries hung and told the Gronchis:

"It was a most enjoyable evening. It was truly wonderful."

Christmas

early French and English hung a piece on the door. One legend that couples will be interested in states that whichever person, husband or wife, brings the holly into the house at Christmas is the one who will rule in the new year.

While mistletoe and the traditional kiss are always associated with Christmas, the custom really dates back to a Scandinavian myth. The myth tells of Baldur, god of light and spring, who was troubled by dreams that he was in danger. To prevent any harm coming to her son, Frigga, the goddess of love, traveled over the world asking everything from earth, air, fire and water not to harm her son. Mistletoe was the one thing she did not ask. Loki, the god of fire, because he was jealous of Baldur had him slain with a dart of mistletoe. Frigga declared that mistletoe would never again be used as a weapon and that she would place a kiss on anyone who passed under it. Perhaps a more modern reason for the tradition is the legend that states that if a girl does not receive a kiss under the mistletoe she will not marry in the new year.

Another interesting tradition with a legend is that of the candle in the window. The infant wanders through the streets on Christmas Eve and is guided by lighted candles in the windows to a house where he is welcome, according to early Christians. It was traditional in Germany to leave food on the table on Christmas Eve in the belief that the Virgin Mary and a host of angels passed over the countryside.

MAN GETS LIFE FOR ABDUCTING, RAPING GIRL, 14

WISCASSET, Maine (AP) —

Woodcutter Rodney A. Austin, 44, Newcastle, was sentenced to life imprisonment Friday night for the kidnap-rape of a 14-year-old baby sitter, Sharon Simmons.

A jury of seven men and five women convicted Austin on eight counts of abduction, rape, illegal transportation of a minor, defiling and carnal knowledge and of being a second offender. The jury found him innocent on one count of rape.

The ex-convict listened stoically to the verdict returned by the Lincoln County Superior Court jury after nearly seven hours of deliberation.

Wife Cries Quietly

Austin's wife sat staring at the floor, crying quietly as the sentence was read.

Sharon, a Nobleboro High School student, testified that Austin raped her at a Damariscotta Mills home where she was baby-sitting Oct. 17, and forced her on a six-day automobile trip through Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont.

Austin said he had been drinking beer with Sharon's parents that afternoon and had no recollection of the events of that night.

He claimed he had no relations with the girl on the trip. He testified that during the summer they had had relations, but stopped when Sharon told him she was pregnant.

tinued but it appeared to have no effect on the President's high spirit.

He waved smilingly from the rolled-down window of his closed car to admiring Romans as he rode to and from the wreath-laying ceremony and beamed at shouts of "Viva Ike." The rain kept the crowd down to about 1,000 at the ceremony.

Shows Visible Emotion

The President wore a light gray overcoat and gray hat as he walked up the 70 steps to the base of the tomb. He stood at attention while he guards placed the wreath in position.

From the tomb in Piazza Venezia the President drove to the U.S. Embassy to make his talk to employees.

Standing in the gold and gilt office of U.S. Ambassador James D. Zellerbach, the President told his audience, "I do know the United States is not always admired."

Then with a quiver of emotion he added that his aim is to assure people everywhere the United States goal is just peace for all.

"I am going to try to interpret America to other peoples a little bit more emphatically, a little bit more accurately than has been done," the President said.

Refers To Grandchildren

"I get a very great lift when I have a chance to do this kind of thing myself."

"Since I have four grandchildren myself, I am much concerned that they should have a better life than I had."

Eisenhower promised to try to make sure that United States motives are not misunderstood. And he gave the impression that this was what his current historic-making tour is all about.

The President indicated he would devote much of his talk with Italian leaders on helping people of other lands raise their living standards.

This theme is close to the Italian heart. Segni is particularly devoted to the idea of extensive aid to underdeveloped countries and is believed ready to commit more of Italy's resources to the purpose.

at Chantilly, Lee invaded the North, with Harrisburg as his initial objective. McClellan, preempting command of the combined federal forces, followed Lee to Frederick, thence over the western mountain passes where two battles were fought. Meantime Jackson circled around to capture Harpers Ferry, after which he rejoined Lee on the Antietam where was fought the bloodiest single day of the war. McClellan should have won, but his lethargy and errors caused the fight to end in a stalemate, after which Lee retreated into Virginia.

The author, in addition to clarifying the flow of events, gives in his analysis the reasons for what happened, and brings into sharp relief the main characters of the drama.

Ably supporting the text are over 50 contemporary illustrations and 38 battle maps. Colonel W. S. Long Faces Big Test In Louisiana Today; Eleven Candidates For Governor

By JAMES MCLEAN

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — About 800,000 Louisianans are expected to vote today on a successor to the state's fiery Gov. Earl K. Long.

Eleven candidates—all-time record—seek the governorship in the first Democratic primary, which also will nominate other top state officials, a new legislature and hundreds of local officeholders. In Louisiana the Democratic nomination amounts to election.

The tempestuous Long, robust once again, is fighting political oblivion by backing the 68-year-old Noe, aging wheel of the late Huey P. Long, with five rivals himself, is clinging to power by running on the Noe ticket for lieutenant governor.

GOP Pick Cop

Despite the apparent strength of Davis and Morrison, in every gubernatorial primary since the days of Huey Long, the Long candidate has won in the first primary or reached the runoff.

The Democratic nominee for governor faces a Republican contender April 19. GOP leaders have nominated former state police Supt. Francis Grevenberg, who recently changed his party affiliation from Democrat to Republican.

Campaign Pressure

Much campaign pressure has built up for a fresh political outlook, after the shock wave of the 64-year-old governor's confinement in two mental hospitals last summer.

Optimistic Predictions Pouring Forth For 1960

By JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP) — Optimistic predictions for 1960 tumble out of the business world this week. And developments showed that 1959 is a great business year except for those hurt by the steel strike.

This is what some authoritative sources said they expect in 1960: A record steel production of 127 to 130 million tons.

The automobile industry will try to build more cars—an estimated 2,240,000—in the first three months than in any previous quarter.

Food sales will reach an all-time high of 76 billion dollars. New construction will hit a record of $53,300,000,000.

Tool Orders Up

These developments added to the 1959 picture: Machine tool orders in October totaled $67,130,000, highest since March 1957.

Installation buying reached a peak of $33,421,000,000 at the end of October.

Sales of the domestic electronics industry are expected to total nine billion dollars this year, up a billion from 1958.

Sears, Roebuck & Co. sales for the first nine months topped three billion dollars for the first time. Construction contracting totaled $1,458,000,000 in November, highest ever for that month.

Business Climbs Back

Business affected by the steel strike, and the steel industry itself, continued this week to snap back as tension mounted over outlook for a settlement.

Steel production climbed to an estimated 92 per cent of capacity with the mills rushing to meet a great backlog of orders.

Auto production was stepped up after a long decline due to steel shortage. The industry hoped this was the last week of curtailed output.

General Motors has recalled 115,000 of 215,000 workers laid off because of the strike. It will resume production Monday. Chrysler, which also had closed down production lines, expects 10,000 workers to be back at their jobs within a week.

GROUPS FEUD OVER CANCER SMOKING LINK

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—There was fresh fuel today for a dispute between medical and tobacco industry researchers over what constitutes a link between lung cancer and cigarette smoking.

New anatomical evidence shows a direct relation between abnormal tissue changes which precede cancer, as well as lung cancer itself, and the number of cigarettes smoked, a scientist told the American Medical Assn. Friday.

His report drew immediate fire from the Tobacco Research Committee. Its spokesman declared that numerous other experts do not agree with the finding.

V.A. Hospital Doctor
Dr. Oscar Auerbach, chief of laboratory service at the Veterans Administration Hospital in East Orange, N.J., made these points in a report to an AMA clinical gathering:

Studies of 17,597 lung tissue samples from 402 men who died in VA hospital "seem to us to indicate that cigarette smoking is today a major factor in the causation of lung cancer."

Sixty-three of the deaths resulted from lung cancer. All 63 men smoked tobacco, and 60 used cigarettes.

Of the 339 patients dying from other causes, 238 had smoked half a pack or more cigarettes a day. Lung tissue from this group showed cell changes which "probably represent a change toward cancer."

Note Little Change
Few changes appeared in lung cells of 55 who smoked little or none.

Auerbach, who also is an associate professor at New York Medical College, drew a conclusion that lung cancer and conditions leading to it "depend almost completely on the number of cigarettes smoked."

He added that this opinion agrees fully with previous evidence based on extensive statistical studies.

Those who worked with Dr. Auerbach included Dr. Arthur Purdy Stout of Columbia University and Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond of the American Cancer Society.

TEN YEARS AGO

Ross Sachs Is Recipient of Heimer Award: Ross H. Sachs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Luther I. Sachs, Locust avenue, was announced today as the first recipient of the Rear Admiral Roger C. Heimer scholarship award for the school year 1958-59 by Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, president of Gettysburg college.

In making the award, Dr. Hanson said "As a student, as a brilliant athlete, as a devoted Christian gentleman, Ross has, in all three areas, established himself as perhaps the best-loved student on the campus."
The award, which was made this year for the first time, is given to the outstanding member of the junior class who maintains his attendance at Gettysburg college as a member of the senior class. It carries with it a $200 scholarship.

Rear Admiral Reimer, a native of New Oxford, and a member of the faculty of Pennsylvania Military college, attended Gettysburg college in 1916 and 1917. After serving in the Coast Guard and gaining the rank of rear admiral he was graduated from Gettysburg in 1946 as of the class of 1918.

Handkerchief Shower Tendered County Woman On 80th Birthday: Mrs. Fanny Hartzell, Fairfield, this afternoon will be the guest at a handkerchief shower in observance of her 80th birthday. A grandson, Edward Hartzell is scheduled to deliver the "shower" when he arrives at Mrs. Hartzell's home this afternoon after school.

Over the week-end 75 Fairfield area residents mailed cards, with handkerchiefs enclosed, at the post office as a surprise for the Fairfield resident. The "shower" articles were held until today, when all will be turned over to the grandson when he calls for the mail.

Large Crowd Greets Santa: Xmas Street Lights Turned On At 6 O'clock Saturday: A chilly Saturday evening failed to cool the spirits of several hundred children from Gettysburg and vicinity bent on seeing Santa Claus on his visit to Center Square.

The wintry winds rather increased the spirit of the holiday season as the children, many of them accompanied by parents, began arriving in the square 20 minutes before Santa was due to arrive.
When Santa arrived in town he was escorted down Baltimore street to the square in the service truck of the Gettysburg fire department driven by C. William Zhea. Floodlights mounted on the truck was turned on Santa as he drove through the streets waving to his friends.

Henry W. Garvin, president of the Chamber of Commerce, assisted Santa in throwing the switch which turned on the town's Christmas decorations.

Today's Talk

PARKS, PLAYGROUNDS, AND NIGHT SCHOOLS
Every day, from my home to my office, I pass many parks, playgrounds, and public schools, and I think of those day workers awaiting those night schools with wonderful for students with ambition and purpose. Many a world figure today looks back upon the time when he entered one of these useful and inspiring educational institutions.

All along the river front I see youth at play, strengthening their bodies for work in the world. You can't have too many of these public aids to a life of usefulness and happiness.

I worked my way through college, along with thousands of others from all parts of the country and many from foreign lands. I never looked upon it as a burden. It was a privilege and an opportunity. I am proud of my Kansas days and of the friendships there created. How sorely missed are many who have gone, their earthly tasks completed.

In my town public-spirited men have taken a block of the center of the finest avenue and financed the expense of flowers there, beautifying the adjacent streets. There are signs stating the name of each man who made his avenue one of flowers. You can't make a city street or its homes and business structures too beautiful. People react to it and look on with pride. Business structures and interiors are more beautiful in my town than I have ever seen them. This is a good sign. Henry Ward Beecher, the great pulpit orator, once said that a church could not be too beautiful.

Just Folks

SINCE I HAVE DONE MY BEST
Since I have done my best, I do not fear the outcome; here I stand
Prepared for judgment when men view
The labor of my heart and hand.
If good, then happy I shall be;
If not, contented I'll abide.
And though the prize is not for me,
My joy shall be in having tried.

Since I have done my best, there is
No cause for me to sit and sigh.
Although the laurel wreath I miss,
My eyes shall smiling be and dry.

No vain excuses shall I make
For failing, and no vain regret,
But bravely judgment I shall take,
And say: A better man I've met.

Since I have done my best, I'll go
Whenever God shall summon me,
Contented, for right well I knew,
However poor my record be,
That, having nothing to regret,
No shame that I would seek to hide,
The Master's praises I shall get
For honest effort when I tried.

Open Safety Pin Is Removed From Babe's Stomach At Hospital: An open safety pin swallowed by nine-month old Jerry Joe Sanders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Sanders, Gettysburg R. 5, was removed at the Warner hospital early this morning.

Test State Tax On Gas Receipts

HARRISBURG (AP)—The validity of the state's new tax on the gross receipts of gas companies is being tested by the city of Philadelphia which owns a gas works.

City Solicitor David Berger filed suit in Dauphin County Court on Thursday to enjoin the state from collecting the 14-mil tax which becomes effective Jan. 1.

The levy recently was extended by the Legislature to cover gas firms for the first time. Democratic lawmakers failed in an attempt to exclude Philadelphia's municipally owned, but privately operated gas works.

The suit contends the tax imposes an unjust burden on the revenue of the gas works, the city of Philadelphia and its taxpayers. The state was given 20 days to reply.

A Bit Of History About Early Settlers

By B. F. M. MacPHERSON

B. F. M. MacPHERSON
The Ferree Family
The historical and genealogical study of the Round Hill Presbyterian Graveyard is continued at this time with the inscription from the one marked grave in the Duffield family plot.

"In memory of Elizabeth wife of J. D. Duffield. Died May 25, 1845. Aged 65 years."

Note: In the files of the "Adams Sentinel" (later the "Star and Sentinel") here is up to and including the year 1850 only one vital statistic pertaining to the Duffield family, as follows:

Wednesday, September 2, 1807 "Married, Thursday, September 8, 1807, by the Rev. David McCaughy, George Irwin to Miss Sarah Duffield, both of this place (Gettysburg, Adams County, Pa.)." The Sarah Duffield mentioned above was probably a sister of the J. D. Duffield, whose wife, Elizabeth Duffield, is buried in the old Round Hill Presbyterian Graveyard. Nothing further is known at the present time, pertaining to the family.

After the Duffield family burial plot the next graves on the list of inscriptions are those of the Ferree family. There are eight on marked graves in this plot and apparently—judging from size and surface ground indications—a few unmarked ones as well. Originally the Ferrees were French Huguenots, who, because of religious persecution, fled from France to Germany but eventually came to Pennsylvania to enjoy the freedom and privileges so lacking at that time in the old country.

French Family Flees
During the dark and bloody period following the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes in 1685 there lived in France a family by the name of Ferree. Daniel Ferree and Mary Warrimere were married in 1669 and six children were born to this union, as follows: Daniel Ferree II, John Ferree, Philip Ferree, Catharine Ferree, Mary Ferree and Jane Ferree. Daniel Ferree, the father, a silk manufacturer, was a man of wealth and assured position. During the persecution of the Protestants the Ferree family was forced to run for their very lives and fled by night to the city of Strasburg. Here they remained for some time, later going to Lindau in Bavaria. Here Daniel Ferree II died, leaving his wife and six children alone in a strange land. Madame Ferree, however, was equal to the emergency.

While the Ferree family was living in Germany they were joined by a young man named Isaac LeFevre, another victim of the religious persecutions in France. Isaac LeFevre was married to Catharine Ferree, the oldest daughter of Daniel and Mary Ferree, several years before the family emigrated to America. After giving the matter a great deal of consideration and perhaps influenced a bit by the glowing word pictures of William Penn, the Elder, of his province and the opportunities available to all who settled there, the Ferree-LeFevre family decided to move on to the new world.

Receives Passport
Madame Mary Ferree was in charge and took the first step when she secured from the civil authorities a certificate "of standing and passport" for herself and family. A translation of this document, which is now in the possession of one of Madame Ferree's descendants, is herewith given because of its historical and genealogical value.
"Whereas, Maria, Daniel Ferree's widow, and her son, Daniel Ferree, with his wife and six single children, in view of improving their condition and in furtherance of their prosperity, propose to emigrate from Steinweiler, in the Mayoralty of Bittlingheim, High Bailiwick Gernersheim, via Holland and England, to the Island of Pennsylvania, to reside there. They have requested an accredited certificate that they have left the town of Steinweiler with the knowledge of the proper authorities, and have deported themselves, and without cause for censure, and are indebted to no one, and not subject to vassalage, being duly solicited it has been thought proper to grant their petition, declaring that the above named persons are not moving away clandestinely.
"That during the time their father, the widow and children resided in this place they behaved themselves piously and honestly that it would have been highly gratifying to us to see them remain among us; that they are not subject to bodily bondage, the Mayoralty not being subject to vassalage. They have also paid for their permission to emigrate. Mr. Fisher, the Mayor of Steinweiler, being expressly interrogated, it has been ascertained that they are not liable for any debts. In witness whereof I have, in the absence of the Counsellor of the Palatinate, etc., signed these presents, gave the same to the persons who intend to emigrate.

"Dated Bittlingheim, March 10, 1708
"J. P. Dietrich, Court Clerk"

Moved To England
With the necessary documents in their possession the Ferree-LeFevre family journeyed to England in order to make further preparations for the trip to America. Upon their arrival in London Madame Mary Ferree visited William Penn, the elder, and told him of her desire to settle in the Province of Pennsylvania. Penn introduced the Widow Ferree to Anne Anne, the ruler of England, who had helped thousands of French and German refugees. The proprietor of Pennsylvania granted Madame Ferree a large tract of land in his province and the Queen gave generous and practical assistance.

The Ferree-LeFevre family spent approximately six months in London, during which time the colony of the Rev. John Kocher was organized. This consisted entirely of French and Palatine refugees from Lindau, in Bavaria. This party, which the Ferrees and LeFevres joined, arrived safely in the Province of New York where they remained for several years with some fellow Huguenots. The Ferree family, however, had no intention of remaining in New York for Madame Ferree was determined to settle on the tract of land in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania, which had been granted to her by the proprietor. In 1709 the Widow Ferree and her family journeyed to Lancaster County and took possession of their two thousand acres in what is now Paradise Township, in that county.

Family Burial Plot
Not long after her arrival at Pequea, as the settlement was called, Madame Ferree set aside a plot of land, located on an elevation, at what is now the junction of the "Old Black Horse" road with the Strasburg Railroad, for a family burial plot. This is the oldest burial ground in the township and is commonly known as "Carpenter's Cemetery." Mary, the wife and widow of Daniel Ferree II, died in 1716 and hers was the first grave in the graveyard she had founded.
Daniel (I) and Mary (Warrimere) Ferree were the parents of the following children—all of whom accompanied their mother to America.
Daniel Ferree II—born 1677—died 1760—married while living in Germany. Daniel Ferree III, grandson of Madame Ferree, was married in 1739 to Mary Carpenter, whose father was one of the earliest Swiss emigrants in the Province of Pennsylvania.
2. John Ferree—the second son of Madame Ferree became a Quaker and most of his descendants adhered to the same belief.
3. Philip Ferree—born 1687—died 1753—married, while living at Esopus, Province of New York, to Leah Dubois, the daughter of Abraham Dubois. Soon after his marriage Philip Ferree brought his wife to Pequea, Lancaster County, and settled on a part of the Ferree tract. Philip and Leah (Dubois) Ferree were the parents of eight children one of whom was a son named Jacob Ferree. It is from this Jacob Ferree that the Ferrees of Round Hill are thought to be descended. Abraham, the eldest son of Philip Ferree, the emigrant, was the father of Rebecca Ferree, who married David Shriver, son of the pioneer Shriver of Conewago, in what is now Adams County, Pennsylvania.
4. Catharine Ferree—married Isaac LeFevre—came to America with her family.
5. Mary Ferree.
6. Jane Ferree.

RIO BOLTERS FLEE DEEPER INTO JUNGLE

By EDWARD T. BUTLER

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Defiant air force officers waging a propaganda war against President Juscelino Kubitschek fled deeper into the Amazon jungles Friday. Rebels charge the Kubitschek regime is riddled with graft and communism.

They seized five planes Thursday and holed up in the tiny town of Aragarças, 1,100 miles northwest of Rio, but took off early today for a new base of operations, leaving behind a four-engine airliner with all but one of its passengers, the air force said.

It was reported they took as hostage Remi Archer, president of the Bank of Amazonia in Belém, who was flying home from Rio when the passenger plane was commandeered in flight and diverted to Aragarças.

1956 Revolts Failed

The air force expressed belief the rebels—reported to number 17 to 27—may have fled to Cachimbo, 1,200 miles northwest of Rio; or to Jacareacanga, where a similar pocket revolt petered out in 1956.

Kubitschek's office said a message had been received from Archer, radioed at Aragarças, asking that his presence with the rebels not be held against him.

There was an apparent upswing in popular sentiment against the insurgents. Persons widely mentioned as antigovernment candidates for the presidential elections next October offered Kubitschek their backing.

Justice Minister Armando Falcão said the nation was calm but all army units were paced on the alert.

LAUDS STATE PENAL SYSTEM

HARRISBURG (AP)— Pennsylvania's correctional system is second to none as the result of recently enacted legislation, says Atty. Gen. Anne X. Alpern.

"In view of the increasing incidence of crime and delinquency it is appropriate that... constructive procedures continually be developed," she added in a statement Thursday.

The legislation changes the names of penal institutions at the Camp Hill, Dallas, Graterford, Huntingdon, Muncy, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Rockview to state correctional institutions.

No Specifications
"No longer are there specified prisons, penitentiaries, reformatories or industrial schools," said Arthur T. Prasse, commissioner of corrections.
"The courts will commit the offender, while the diagnostic centers in the Bureau of Correction will make the assignment to the institution most likely to effect improvements in attitude and behavior," declared Prasse.

Graveyard the first grave in the Ferree plot is that of Jacob Ferree and the inscription from the marker at his grave is as follows:—

"In memory of Jacob Ferree. Died March 29, 1855. Aged 84 years, 3 months and 14 days."
Note:—In all probability, Jacob was a son of Peter and Mary Ferree. Jacob Ferree was, according to a family tradition, born in Lampeter Township, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania.

The notes on the Ferree family of the Round Hill will be continued in this column next week.

BEN HUR AND BILLY THE KID
Lew Wallace Knew The Two Great Stories He Wrote One; Tried To Stop The Other

By JIM DAN HILL, Ph.D.
President, Wisconsin State College, Superior

LEW WALLACE is back in the news. His brain child, Ben Hur, and a thoroughly real outlaw, Billy the Kid, have a habit of keeping the Lew Wallace name in fresh printer's ink.

Currently Charlton Heston, as heroic Ben, and Stephen Boyd, as villainous Messala, are thundering through their seven laps of the greatest grudge chariot race ever conceived by man. With a 15 million-dollar production price tag, the new, movie spectacle is considerably more than routinely colossal.

The copyright on Lew Wallace's novel "Ben Hur: A Tale of the Christ" expired in 1936. But the movie rights for the silent flicks had already brought his heirs $625,000. Meanwhile, the novel's sales since 1880 were in unexpected millions. These, with record breaking stage royalties, brought to Lew Wallace long, golden, twilight years prior to his death in 1905.

BUT WALLACE always gravitated toward gunpowder, conflict and printer's ink with the same certainty that the much discussed moth moves toward the equally mothbitten flame.

He resisted conventional learning disciplines to pore over adventure novels by Sir Walter Scott and James Fenimore Cooper. As a result, young Wallace, the son of an Indiana governor, first made more than local news by leaving home at the age of 16 without the parental blessing and kiss.

When picked up and hauled back to the homestead, he had been well on his way to join the Texas Navy in which he planned to become a midshipman.

Yes, in those days, 1842, there was a Texas Navy. It was the era of the Lone Star Republic. The fleet consisted of the side-wheel, steam sloop-of-war "Zavala," 10 guns; sailing sloop-of-war "Austin," 22 guns (flagship); gun brig "Wharton" and "Archer," 18 guns each, and three war schooners with seven guns each.

With a part of this fleet, Commodore Moore had made headlines in victorious naval battles off Campeche with more modern Mexican warships that were commanded by English naval officers on leave. Young Wallace wanted to get into that act.

HIS FATHER should have sent him on his way. He would have arrived in Texas just in time to find the commodore calling the President a dastardly, double crossing humbug, while the President was telling the world Moore was a pirate. Of course, both were wrong, but that could have cured Wallace of the romantic, high adventure fever contracted from reading Cooper's sea tales.

As it was, before he reached twenty, he was off to the Mexican War in an Indiana National Guard infantry regiment. He came home a second lieutenant. He dabbled with law, dawdled for years over a long novel manuscript to be entitled "The Fair God," married an attractive, intelligent girl who gained more than a local reputation in the realm of Victorian verses.

THE CIVIL WAR found Wallace a National Guard colonel. Except for one bad day at Shiloh he had an enviable field record, came home a major general. He resumed law, dabbled in politics and dawdled to a finish his manuscript, "The Fair God."

President Hayes, an erstwhile Ohio National Guard general himself, was looking for a good man to send to New Mexico. The notorious Dolan-McSwen feud had become a big range war. Wallace accepted the appointment as territorial governor, took along a manuscript to dawdle over—"Ben Hur."

GIVE TIPS ON SAFE DELIVERY OF XMAS CARDS

Some important tips to assure prompt and safe delivery of Christmas cards and gifts were outlined today by Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield, as follows:

1. Address mail fully and clearly. Write legibly, or print plainly. Avoid abbreviations.
2. Use the 4-cent letter rate for Christmas cards, assuring forwarding of the letter if the addressee has moved, and return if the card is undeliverable.
3. Don't mail money in Christmas gifts or letters. Use postal money orders or checks.
4. When making a larger mailing—such as Christmas card mailings—separate letters into "local" and "out-of-town" bundles. Local post offices have "local" and "out-of-town" wrappers for this purpose free of charge.
5. Pack and wrap gifts securely. Cushioning material should be placed on all sides of the Christmas gift. The carton should be wrapped in heavy paper and tied with strong twine.
6. Delicate gifts, such as glass, must be marked "Fragile," and food stuffs subject to spoilage should be marked "Perishable."
7. Insure parcels. Register letters of real value. Where only proof of delivery is required for letters of no intrinsic value use certified mail.
8. Use combination mail where a letter or message—other than a gift tag—is to be enclosed inside a Christmas package.
9. Mail Christmas cards and parcels early to avoid the last minute rush and waiting in line at the post office. The best times to avoid crowds at stamp windows in most post offices are before 10 a.m. and between 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. Use the new stamp vending machines that have been installed in many post offices.
10. If you don't know the answer to a mailing problem—ask. Every postal employee is happy to answer questions on postal rules and regulations.

Pamphlet On Rates
In addition to these tips, Summerfield noted that local post offices have the free pamphlet, "Post Office Department Publication 3," which contains rates of postage and limits of size and weight for domestic mail.

Another free pamphlet at post offices is entitled "Packaging and Wrapping Parcels For Mailing," the importance of shopping and mailing early for Christmas.

"The hard working postal employees, whose efforts during every Christmas season are so outstanding, must depend upon public cooperation to get their job done. We know that all citizens will recognize the importance of this, and will again extend us this cooperation and help," the postmaster general added.

ROASTING TIP

Small board-breasted turkeys take several hours to roast because of their large proportion of meat to bone.

Broad-leaved Evergreens Need Winter Protection From Windburn Damage

By FRANK S. ZETTLE
Adams County Farm Agent

If the leaves of rhododendron, magnolia laurel, and other broad-leaved evergreens have a burned or diseased appearance they may be showing the effect of windburn.

Windburn is common on broad-leaved evergreens exposed to winter winds and sun, as happens when they are planted on the south side of buildings.

The best recommendation is to relocate these broad-leaved evergreens. Place them on the north side of a building or on the north side of trees and shrubs which will protect them. Or, protect them in their present locations by building a lattice wind-break and covering it with burlap.

Check all plantings near the house and be sure that they are planted far enough away from the house that they will not be affected by overflow from downspouts or eaves troughs.

All evergreens need to be adequately watered before the winter season sets in. Trees and shrubs require water to subside. The evergreens require more than deciduous materials.

Winterize For Safety
Garden perennials, such as chrysanthemums and pansies, need winter protection. Lift tender chrysanthemums, and pansies when they are through blooming and plant them in coldframes.

PAIR PREVENTS RAIL WRECK

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Quick action by two railroad employees stopped a crack passenger train Thursday night as it bore down on a stretch of track buried under a 200-ton landslide in Pittsburgh.

Ralph Thorton, track watchman for the Pennsylvania Railroad, came upon the landslide minutes before the Penn-Texas streamliner was due to pass through. He flashed the danger signal to Mrs. Pearl Reno, who operates a nearby signal tower.

Mrs. Reno, noticing that the train had just cleared an electronic warning point, grabbed her lantern, raced along the tracks and flagged the train. The 17-car train, traveling at about 40 m.p.h., braked to a halt about two miles from the rubble.

The Penn-Texas, with 145 passengers aboard, had arrived in Pittsburgh from St. Louis. It was rerouted to the station across the Ohio River.

OUT 115 CIVILIANS

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Army plans to eliminate 115 civilian jobs at its New Cumberland General Depot Jan. 9 as an economy measure.

Col. Charles E. Capito, depot commander, said Friday efforts will be made to find comparable employment in other federal agencies or local industry for these workers. Eight of the employees will be placed in existing vacancies at the depot and 32 more will go on voluntary retirement.

TO ENROLL IN THIS COURSE

The course is based on the "Farmer's Account Book" itself. The system is simple: Important facts concerning the business can be recorded in a few minutes each day if the records are kept daily. Included in the course are instructions on keeping a record of expenses and receipts, summarizing the financial year, maintaining income tax records, preparing statements of net worth and recording accounts payable and receivable. Depreciation schedules and inventory also are considered.

This eight-lesson course can be secured by sending a check or money order made payable to the Pennsylvania State University for $2.00. Send it to Correspondence Courses in Agriculture and Home Economics, 202 Agricultural Education Building, University Park, Pa., and request Course 117. A bulletin describing 68 other agriculture and home economics correspondence courses will be sent on request.

Ike Cheers Boy, 9, With Broken Leg

MANHASSET, N.Y. (AP) — Dickie Van Nolle, 9, received a very special letter Friday.

"I heard," it said, "you had some trouble with a bus and landed in a hospital. Here's hoping you get well soon and have a fine and merry Christmas. Good luck."

Dickie did have some trouble with a bus. His leg was broken in an accident two months ago, and he won't be out of the hospital for some time.

His dad, Associated Press photographer Hans Van Nolle, attended a White House press reception earlier this week. He mentioned Dickie's plight to President Eisenhower.

The letter was from the President.

9 COMPANIES ARE NAMED IN PAYOLA ON TV

WASHINGTON (AP)—The public has been fooled and competition has been suppressed by nine companies that slipped payola to disc jockeys, the Federal Trade Commission charges.

In return for payola, the FTC said Friday, the radio and TV disc jockeys gave the firms' recordings a good spin—sometimes playing the same records as often as six to ten times a day.

Because these payments were concealed, the FTC said, the public was deceived into thinking that the records involved actually were among the most popular ones.

A spokesman for the Edward S. Barsky Co., a Philadelphia record distributing firm, one of the nine named by the FTC, made this comment to a newsman:

"We Met Competition"
"Sure we paid disc jockeys. We met competition. Every company was involved in one way or another. We merely fought the battle to sell records, and that was to pay some of the bigger disc jockeys."

Another of the companies named was the huge Radio Corp. of America.

The FTC did not name any disc jockeys as the receivers of payola.

The television industry Friday amended its code of conduct to ban all rigged quiz shows, payola and deceptive advertising. The television board of the National Assn. of Broadcasters said it was doing so to clean its own house.

8 In Philadelphia
The FTC complaints named three manufacturers and six record distributors.

Besides RCA, the two manufacturers named were London Records, Inc., New York, and Bernard Lowe Enterprises, Inc., Philadelphia.

"TURKS LIKE IKE TOO," SAY SIGNS THERE

By WEBB MCKINLEY

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Turkey anticipates the visit of President Eisenhower with an excitement unusual for this silent and often aloof land.

Signs are popping up in strange places—"Turks like Ike too."

In peasant villages almost lost on the desolate plateau of Asia Minor, in sophisticated, cynical Istanbul, evidence of interest runs high.

"It's Amazing"

"Our people seem to have a tremendous personal feeling about your President," a high ranking Turkish official said. "We have had applications from all parts of Turkey to come here to see him. Thousands of them. It's amazing."

During his 17 hour visit Sunday and Monday President Eisenhower will see only the capital of this NATO ally of 25 million people, larger in area than Texas and as contrasting as Montana and Florida.

Leaders To Be Greeters

Turkey is too large and rural a country to be defined by a city, but Ankara does it better than any other.

Here Eisenhower will be greeted by leaders he already has met, President Celal Bayar, Premier Adnan Menderes and Foreign Minister Fatin Ruzhtu Zorlu. Like virtually all Turks in public life, these men have thrown their support behind Western and American policy. There are no stronger advocates than they of the Atlantic Pact and such regional defense groups as the Central Treaty Organization (CENTO).

NEW TV HEARINGS

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The chairman of the House subcommittee which disclosed TV quiz show rigging says new hearings will be held to investigate various practices of radio and television.

Rep. Oren D. Harris (D-Ark), chairman of the House subcommittee on Legislative Oversight, said Friday in a speech here that his group will conduct hearings in Washington next month.

RCA and London acknowledged receipt of the complaints, but referred them to lawyers and had no comment.

All but one of the record distributors were Philadelphia firms. In addition to Barsky, they were Chips Distributing Co., Inc., David Rosen, Inc., Universal Records Distributing Corp., and Sparks Music Distributors, Inc. The ninth firm was Main Line Cleveland Inc., Cleveland, Ohio.

Cop Suffers With Bee In His Bonnet

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Motorcycle officer James Kirby was doing 60 in heavy traffic when he got a bee in his bonnet.

The bee crawled under his helmet. He couldn't take the helmet off in traffic. Nor could he get to an outside lane of the Pacific Coast Highway with the promptness called for by the situation.

He sweated it out.

Ah, a filling station. He pulled in.

The bee sat down.

Kirby, 29, was treated at a hospital for a badly swollen right eye-brow.

PLAN U.S. 30 BYPASS

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gwin Engineers, Inc., Altoona, will make an alternate location study for a bypass of McConehillsburg on U. S. 30 in Fulton County.

The State Highways Department Friday awarded a $4,192 contract to the firm and ordered the study completed in two months. The road will be about five miles long.

Washington's Camilo Pascual allowed a record 34 homers in 1956 but in 1959 he permitted only 10.

RAISE FOR CLERKS

HARRISBURG (AP)—Pay raises for liquor store clerks are proposed by the State Liquor Control Board.

Patrick E. Kerwin, chairman, made the recommendation Friday to the office of Administration and the Civil Service Commission.

Kerwin said the proposed new pay scale would provide a maximum yearly salary of $4,329 for clerks now employed. It would start beginners at $3,390 a year, instead of $3,077.

BRONXVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — Leo L. Tully, 68, founder in 1917 of Educators Assn. publishers of encyclopedias for school children, died Friday after a long illness.

ABORTION MILL IS BROKEN UP IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK (AP)—The district attorney's office announced Friday the breakup of a $6,000-a-week abortion mill catering to college girls and entertainers.

Three men were arrested Thursday night at medical offices in midtown Manhattan.

The raid, led by Asst. Dist. Atty. Lawrence Rowe, followed a two-month investigation.

The raiders said they found, in the office of Leopold Geel, a woman who had just undergone an illegal operation.

Geel, 53, who allegedly used the name Dr. Roy Gilbert, was described as having a British medical license but as not having obtained a New York license since coming to the United States last April.

Aged Men Involved
In another office, the raiding party found Jan John Aldon, 65, and his cousin, Daniel Zalberg, 65. A patient, accompanied by her boyfriend, was in the waiting room, detectives said.

The district attorney's office said Zalberg, preparing to leave for a world cruise in February, had been breaking in the other two men to take over the alleged abortion mill during his absence.

Charges against the men alleged that the mill handled an average of 10 abortions a week at $600 each, with women patients coming from New England, Virginia and Washington, D. C., as well as New York.

The three were charged with committing abortion, which is a felony.

NEW SEAWAY HELPS BOOM STATE PORTS

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — What effect has the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway to ocean going vessels this year had on Philadelphia and Erie—Pennsylvania's two port cities?

Export-import volumes of shipping went a little beyond expectations and showed much more promise for future years, according to reports from port authorities.

Philadelphia, the top import port in the United States, showed a gain in imports for the first half of 1959 compared to the first six months of last year. But for the same period, the port reported a drop in exports.

The state's largest city reported 21,992,900 short tons of imports for the first six months of this year compared with 20,198,600 for the similar period of 1958. But exports dropped from 1,187,700 to 1,761,700.

The decrease in exports was attributed to some extent to a 60 percent drop in coal exports in the first five months of 1959 and a 34 percent decline in grain exports.

In its infancy, the Erie port showed a 100 percent improvement over 1958.

The opening of the seaway had no immediate effect on industrial growth of the two ports.

Plan New Construction

Both cities have announced plans for further construction. Erie is working on plans for a tank farm for outboard oil and a gantry crane for the dock next season.

Philadelphia has a capital program for construction of a 20 million dollar modern new marine facility and purchase from the Army of three piers.

While Erie had no labor trouble, Philadelphia had two shutdowns caused by disputes—10 days in October and 21 in July.

NEW NAM HEAD OLD APPRENTICE

NEW YORK (AP)—Rudolph F. Bannow, who started in business as an apprentice patternmaker earning 6½ cents an hour, is the new president of the National Assn. of Manufacturers.

He was elected Thursday at the 64th Congress of American Industry, sponsored by the association. He will serve during the coming year.

Bannow, 62, came to America from Sweden and started working at the age of 14 in Holyoke, Mass. He is now president of Bridgeport Machines, Inc., of Bridgeport, Conn., makers of machine tools.

Other officers elected were: chairman of the board, Stanley C. Hope, president of the Sound-scriber Corp. North Haven, Conn.; chairman of the executive committee, Milton C. Lightner, chairman of the Singer Manufacturing Co., Elizabeth, N.J.; chairman of the finance committee, Ernest G. Swiger, president of the Hyster Co., Portland, Ore.; national vice president, John W. McGovern, president of the U.S. Rubber Co.

At Thursday's session, Rep. Phil M. Landrum (D-Ga.), cosponsor of recent federal labor reform legislation, urged stiffer laws to deal with national emergencies.

CROSBY BOYS BREAK UP ACT

MONTREAL (AP) — The four Crosby brothers, sons of Crooner Bing, split up their recently formed act and walked out on a $12,600 contract with a Montreal night club Thursday.

The breakup was confirmed by their manager, Peter Petito—who called it "temporary"—shortly before they were scheduled to appear for their second show of the evening.

In an interview, Petito denied the cancellation took place because of a reported family row.

A spokesman for the club said the group had seven more performances to go before fulfilling a 10-day contract.

The club said the contract was canceled by mutual agreement.

Undergoes Gall Bladder Operation

WASHINGTON (AP)— Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson underwent surgery for removal of the gall bladder Friday at Walter Reed Army Hospital. His condition afterward was reported good.

The hospital said the hour and a half operation was performed by the Army's surgeon general, Lt. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton.

TRUJILLO HAS FEARS ABOUT ENEMY PLOTS

By MORRIS W. ROSENBERG

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Generalissimo Rafael Trujillo is a lonely but defiant ruler in the Caribbean top. With a revolver on his desk, the white-haired dictator knows that enemies are plotting to destroy him.

His 30-year dictatorship, struggling with serious internal economic problems, is being harassed from all sides.

Small signs of political unrest within the normally tranquil country also have appeared during the past six months.

Dominican exiles in Cuba, Puerto Rico, Venezuela and the United States continue to plot Trujillo's downfall.

More significant than the external threats, however, are evidences of opposition within the country of an estimated 2,600,000 people. Long-time local observers report two recent mysterious fires in government offices, the finding of Molotov cocktails (gasoline bombs) in two restaurants, the scrawling of a few anti-Trujillo slogans on some walls, and increased outspoken criticism of the regime.

On the surface the situation is calm.

But the government is not taking any chances. It says it has spent an extra 50 million dollars for armaments this year.

Those who know Trujillo best say he is ready to fight any challenge to his rule. At 68 the dictator himself looks fit and healthy. He expresses absolute confidence that he will overcome his adversaries, within or without the country.

IKE ATTACKED FOR STAND ON BIRTH CONTROL

NEW YORK (AP) — President Eisenhower's stand against use of public funds for promotion of birth control abroad is under fire on the ground that it was a concession to the Roman Catholic Church.

Officials of two planned parenthood groups and a predominantly Protestant organization assailed the President in statements Thursday.

The criticism was voiced here by Dr. Alan F. Guttmacher, chairman of the medical committee of the Planned Parenthood Federation of America; and Mrs. Robert M. Ferguson, U. S. vice president of the International Planned Parenthood Federation.

Another attack was made in Washington, D. C., by Glenn L. Archer, executive director of Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State.

The President stepped into a debate over possible use of U. S. foreign aid funds on birth control programs in other countries at his news conference Wednesday.

"I cannot imagine anything more emphatically a subject that is not a proper political or government activity or function or responsibility," the President said.

The debate was touched off earlier when an organization of Roman Catholic bishops publicly voiced opposition to such use of foreign aid funds.
